

1:1 Career Coaching with John Lees Associates

Most of us spend more time planning a holiday than planning careers, so spending a little time working out exactly what work you should be doing makes a big difference. At John Lees Associates we strive to provide a service totally geared to your needs, supported by up to date market expertise, information and research.

We have selected a team of experienced and effective consultants in many parts of the UK, ally in sympathy with John Lees' career books, including How To Get A Job You Love.

Our fees for individual coaching sessions start at £89.00 per hour, plus VAT, with higher rates charged for executive support. Most sessions are face to face, but where it's more convenient for both parties we also conduct telephone or Skype sessions.

We do receive requests to work directly with John Lees and this is sometimes possible where his diary allows, usually via Skype or telephone. Fees for working with John or other senior team members are available upon request.

What do sessions cover? Normally in the first one or two meetings we will help you clarify your career goals (exploring new career pathways if that's of interest to you), think about getting ready for a job search, sharpen up your CV, and begin to understand the benefits of a multi-strategy job search.

There is no obligation to commit to an extended programme of sessions but we also have a Career Review Programme, Career Management Programme and an Executive Career Management Programme available for those clients who want to realise their maximum potential, every step of the way. Details are available on request.

Next Steps

Please telephone or email if you would like more information. The first step could be a 40 minute micro session for £50 plus VAT so that you can get to know a consultant before you commit any further. See the website for the link to arrange your 40 minute micro session. This would determine your needs and ensure a 'chemistry check' before booking your first meeting which is normally 2 hours.

Our Managing Consultant Kate Howlett can be contacted directly on 07976 313474 or email katehowlett@johnleescareers.com

We look forward to hearing from you.

John Lees Associates